SKILL DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMME

Report Title	Skill Development Programme on Tips and Tricks in Interviews
Date	28-09-2022
Time	11.30AM -1.00 PM(Shift-I) 2.00 PM -3.30 PM(Shift-II)
Venue	Archbishop Michael Augustine Library (Library Extension Hall)
Resource Person Details:	Mr. D. Vigneshwara Raj, CEO, Viki infotech, Cuddalore-1

The PG and Research Department of Computer Science organized a seminar “Tips and Tricks in Interviews” on 28.09.2022 at Archbishop Michael Augustine Library (Library Extension Hall). The event was facilitated by Mr. D. Vigneshwararaj, who also provided the students with a wealth of advice on how to ace computer science interviews. As they were in their last year of UG and PG, the students found it to be very helpful.

The UG final year and PG students thoroughly enjoyed learning about interview techniques and essential knowledge before attending any interviews. The major goal of this session was to equip students with the knowledge and skills they will definitely require for success in any tech interviews in the future.

Sessions Handled by the Resource Person Mr. D. Vigneshwara Raj

He also discussed some last-minute advice for acing interviews. As a result, the students gained a clear understanding of the primary hiring practices used by tech companies.

He gave a clear explanation of how to do well in a job interview. He went over every stage of the interview process step-by-step, providing examples and advice: how to be ready for an interview, how to communicate, how many interviews there are, what the focus areas of each type of interview are, how to present oneself, typical questions, how to end the interview, etc. Through an example of a video, he revealed what recruiters really look for: qualification, consistency, trust, and worthiness, insight into areas of strength and improvement, and motivation. 229 students participated in the seminar. The department also received positive feedback from students for this seminar for acing interviews.

Our Alumni interacting with students on importance of life skills

Our Alumni explaining about different life skills

We invited Ms. S. HEMAMALINI to address the students on how to lead a contended life. She is our department Alumni (2015-2018) and she shared her experience how she was selected in WIPRO Limited (MNC). She shared some important points about how her company develop life skills to their employees. Our Department students 65 members participated his programme. She explained how life skills is essential for navigating the challenges and opportunities that come our way. These skills help us to cope with the demands of everyday life and to make the most of our potential. Here are some tips given by her for developing life skills:

Self-awareness: Understanding our strengths, weaknesses, and emotions is crucial for personal development. Take time to reflect on your thoughts and feelings, and consider seeking the help of a mentor or therapist for support. Communication: Effective communication is vital for building relationships and resolving conflicts. Practice active listening, and work on expressing yourself clearly and assertively. Problem-solving: Life is full of challenges, and developing problem-solving skills can help you to overcome obstacles and achieve your goals. Break down problems into manageable steps, and consider seeking input from others to gain new perspectives.

Time management: Balancing work, school, and personal obligations can be challenging. Learn to prioritize tasks and set achievable goals, and consider using tools and techniques to improve your productivity.

Adaptability: Life doesn't always go according to plan, and developing adaptability can help you to respond to change and uncertainty. Cultivate a flexible mind set and be open to trying new approaches. Resilience: Building resilience is essential for bouncing back from setbacks and persevering through difficult times. Focus on developing a positive outlook, practicing self-care, and seeking support from friends and family. Decision-making: Making decisions is a part of everyday life, and developing good judgment is essential for achieving your goals. Consider seeking advice from trusted mentors and experts, and take the time to weigh the pros and cons before making important choices.

Empathy: Understanding and empathizing with others is essential for building strong relationships and resolving conflicts. Practice putting yourself in others' shoes and consider volunteering or participating in community service to gain a broader perspective. Financial management: Understanding how to budget, save, and invest money is essential for achieving financial security. Take the time to learn about personal finance, and consider seeking the guidance of a financial advisor if needed. Continuous learning: Life is a journey of growth and learning, and developing a thirst for knowledge and new experiences can help you to adapt and thrive in a rapidly changing world. Make an effort to seek out new skills and knowledge, whether through formal education, reading, or hands-on experiences.

In conclusion, developing life skills is an ongoing process that can significantly enhance your personal and professional development. By focusing on self-awareness, communication, problem-solving, and other key areas, you can build a strong foundation for success and well-being in all aspects of your life

Mr. Ajay Lawrence, Executive-Finance & Accounting Services, Datamatics, Global Services Ltd., Puducherry.

The Session was taken by Mr. Ajay Lawrence, Executive-Finance & Accounting Services, Datamatics, Global Services Ltd., Puducherry. He started to explain about the articles published in the corporate entrepreneurship field and presents the future research agenda. He Stated that, Research agrees that corporate entrepreneurship has a positive impact on firms' profits and growth. This has generated an increase in the number of research articles published in this area. Second, he moved on to the lack of up-to-date comprehensive literature reviews summarizing the knowledge and advances generated in the field in the last years.

He has shared his experience as the organization invests in the creation of a small internal group focused on corporate growth that learns and works following an entrepreneurship program that assists them in a wide range that goes from the conceptualization to the marketing of the idea. The goal is for the team to develop a detailed business plan that must be presented to the leaders of the "innovated" business unit for approval. Success in one business unit arouses the interest of others and, over time, these selected teams become agents of changes. Companies that have implemented this model offer: transparency in the benefits offered to employees who make valuable contributions, clear criteria for selection of ideas and concepts, transparent mechanisms to fund new initiatives, and management support to implement the proposed business highlights.

Mr. Ajay Lawrence explaining about the conceptualization to the marketing in Corporate Entrepreneurship.

The main idea behind the session was to make the students aware of the importance of opportunities. The idea is that the group of eternal acts as evangelizers and experts in innovation, facilitating corporate entrepreneurship among other functional areas or business units of the organization. It uses these internal change agents to sensitize its various business units, encouraging them to experiment and create new business opportunities.

This have been an amazing & enlightening programme, Presented in a clear and engaging way with obvious and immediate results. This programme was attended by 63 Students. The students learned a lot in a comfortable environment.

The Session was taken by Mr. P. Bojana Sastha, Member, Vision Humanity Foundation, Puducherry. He started to explain about the principal question as to what extent social entrepreneurship shapes or can shape conventional entrepreneurship, remains. Perspective is essential for innovation, and given its social focus, social entrepreneurship may offer a new and unique outlook. He Stated that, further examine social entrepreneurship, and to note how it informs conventional entrepreneurship and opportunity recognition. To that end, the following aspects are investigated further on the objectives of social entrepreneurship, innovation practices of social entrepreneurs, implementation within social entrepreneurship, and the relationship between social entrepreneurship and entrepreneurship.

He has shared his experience the underlying is to create social value, characterised by innovation or the creation of something new. Social entrepreneurship is primarily driven by the social problem being addressed, and a social enterprise should take a format that mobilizes the resources needed to address that problem most effectively. Social entrepreneurship can therefore follow different avenues.

Mr. P. Bojana Sastha, explaining the factors of different avenues in Social Entrepreneurship.

The main idea behind the session was to make the students aware of the varying views describing the model and culture of social entrepreneurship. The culture of a traditional non-profit, irrespective of how innovative it is, differs immensely from the culture of an entrepreneurial non-profit. It is committed to solving social problems, and by so doing, serve the disadvantaged, and provide socially important goods that were inadequately provided by public agencies or private markets.

This have been an amazing & enlightening programme, Presented in a clear and engaging way with obvious and immediate results. This programme was attended by 73 Students. The students learned a lot in a comfortable environment.
