As part of St. Joseph's College of Arts & Science (Autonomous), Cuddalore ongoing commitment to promoting academic excellence and fostering a research-driven culture, we have instituted the Rev. Fr. G. Peter Rajendiram Best Paper Publication Award. This prestigious award recognizes and celebrates the scholarly achievements of our faculty members who have made significant contributions to their respective fields through high-quality research publications.

The award is presented annually to faculty members who publish their research in journals indexed by Scopus, Web of Science, or UGC CARE with a focus on high-impact factor journals. By setting these high standards, the award encourages faculty to strive for impactful, peer-reviewed publications that contribute to the global body of knowledge.

The award is named in honour of Rev. Fr. G. Peter Rajendiram, our former secretary, who instituted this award to recognize the staff for their dedication to research excellence. It serves as both an acknowledgment of the faculty's research accomplishments and as a motivation for others to pursue high-quality, impactful research.

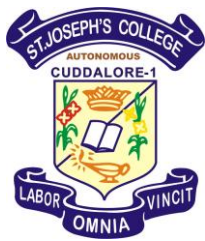

Criteria for the Award

- The research paper must be published in journals indexed by Scopus, Web of Science, or UGC CARE.
- Priority is given to papers published in journals with high impact factors, reflecting the paper's contribution to the academic community.
- The award aims to foster a culture of research excellence and motivate faculty to continuously engage in innovative and meaningful research.

This initiative is a cornerstone of our institution's efforts to align with global academic standards, encourage a research-oriented mind-set, and ensure that our faculty remains at the forefront of their fields.

By recognizing and rewarding high-quality research output, the Rev. Fr. G. Peter Rajendiram Best Paper Publication Award plays a pivotal role in driving our academic community toward national and international recognition.
