Title of the Field Visit: Visit to Manuneethi organic research Center

Date : 19.7.2019

Place: Semmakottai

PG & Research Department of Biochemistry has visited the Manuneethi organic research Center, Semmakottai, Panruti on 19 July of 2019 as a part of student's curriculum Activity. Totally 51 students from III B.Sc., Biochemistry with two Teaching staff members attended the visit and learned the principle followed in the solid waste management and Bio-toilet. The most common problem faced by the water pollution caused by the toilet waste water.

Conversion of the septic tank waste water to the irrigation purpose water is successful by using the Bio-toilet, was clearly demonstrated by the by Manuneethi Manikam foundation of MAK India Limited, technicians. Another biggest problem faced by the humans is solid waste disposal by urbanization. The solid waste materials were powdered by the incineration technique and the ash is used for making the ash brick stone and used for building construction. Students also learned the preparation of bio-pesticide and bio-fertilizer preparations by using neem seed, fish and cow dung and cow urine. This visit created the awareness among students and motivated them for organic farming.
